"I say, there is no darkness, but ignorance; in which thou art more puzzled than the Egyptians in their fog."

Not satisfied with her $180,000,000 deficit England adopts a strong policy in China.

Having been driven off his own road in his own car into his own river, Henry Ford has been removed from his own hospital to his own home and is now lying on the flat of his own back. These billionaires are so exclusive.

Senator Couzens holds up Senator Borah and touches him for the price of a meal, the most notable case of pan-handling in Washington since Mark Hanna got on a Washington street car one day and had to borrow a nickel from the conductor.

Mme. Bugge-Wickell says that the League of Nations may be forced to intervene in the Chinese situation, and yet some people claim that women have no sense of humor.

It is encouraging to note that the new $50,000 radio commission has been in session a week now without materially damaging the situation.

The Paris police having compelled the movies to stop using the word boche in their pictures, if Buddy will delete frog from his vocabulary we may consider that the war is now over.

Postmaster General New honors a rural mail carrier who didn't let a little thing like a blizzard prevent him from delivering the bills and things. As old Herodotus observed long ago of the whole breed, "Neither snow, nor rain, nor heat, nor night, stays the couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

In declaring that further coolidgeism in the District is impossible Auditor Donovan uses an obsolete word that isn't in Gen. Lord's revised dictionary.

Indications are that this strike in the end is going to turn out to be almost as big a bargain for the public as the last one.

Our quiet participation in the proceedings of the League of Nations leaves Uncle Sam in the thrilling position of the small boy who goes out in the alley to play with the kids his parents have forbidden him to associate with.

Another hold hold-up in Chicago—the Grand Opera orchestra musicians demand $15 a day with the usual luck.

If Senator Norris approves the railroad valuation decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission there must indeed be a vital fallacy in it somewhere.

Now that they're going to reopen the case of the late Prof. Scraton, can't something be done to appeal the decision of the San Francisco convention in kicking Jim Reed into the outer darkness?

Bucky Harris' veterans are on their way home from Florida and it's understood there isn't a crutch or a yard of lint left in the State.

According to Mrs. Willebrandt's theory, April Fool's day was a singularly appropriate time for putting the new prohibition law into effect.

We gather from Prof. Holmes' lecture that a near-sighted man in East Africa might get an idea he was at the zoo.

The plain character of the revolution in Mexico is revealed as the most bloody and unnecessary of all conflicts, a religious war. The trouble with intolerance is that it is intolerant.

An oil boom town in the Texas panhandle breezes into the news with the kind of a thriller we used to read in the old days when the West was wild and woolly and Judge Roy Bean—"The Law West of the Pecos"—administered rough justice. Here is a tale to make the shade of Billy-the-Kid long for this country, as it measures miles on the plains, where Pat Garrett finally "got" the greatest single-handed killer of all time.

King Ferdinand like Charles II well might muster what philosophy he can command and apologize for being such an unconscionable time dying. After all, who mourns a monarch?

Col. Ladue, Greetings to you; When you are through—Adieu!

Owing to the disastrous floods out West let us hope that the macadamizing of the Missouri river under the last pork barrel bill will be pushed more vigorously.

CHANG'S DISMISSAL EXPECTED TO BRING NEW FIGHT IN CHINA

Moderate Army Leader Prepares to Resist Hankow's Order.

U. S. SHIPS TO GUARD ALL CITIES ON COAST

1,500 More Marines Massed for Trip if Needed; Two Tokyo Fleets Arrive.

Developments in the Chinese situation yesterday were:

Further discussion among the Cantonese was indicated in reports from Shanghai which told of the dismissal by the Hankow government of Gen. Chang Kai-shek as commander of the nationalist army.

Secretary of State Kellogg in a statement reiterated the intention of the United States to protect the lives and property of Americans in China.

Additional marines, numbering 1,500, were preparing to go to San Diego for mobilization as a possible third expeditionary force to China.

British demands on the Cantonese government as result of the Nanking attacks were approved by the British cabinet. The British note will be forwarded to Washington and Tokyo in hope of a joint protest by the three governments.

Shanghai, April 1 (By A. P.).—War-torn China, already divided by a great civil conflict between the north and south, tonight appeared threatened with further discussion arising within the Cantonese camp between the nationalist commander in chief, Gen. Chang Kai-shek, and the Hankow government.

Reports from usual trustworthy sources today indicated that Gen. Chang has been dismissed as generalissimo of the nationalist forces by the Hankow government.

There was every indication, it was stated, that Gen. Chang, whose military victories have placed the entire Yangtze valley under nationalist control, is now concentrating his strength in the Shanghai district to defy the reported dismissal.

Whatever the outcome of the political struggle believed to be in progress between the military and more moderate wing of the Cantonese regime, and the civil government in China today continued their operations to protect their nationals from anti-foreign activities.

U. S. Ships All Along Coast

Within a short time United States warships will be on duty along the Chinese coast, from Canton in the south to Tientsin in the north, guarding American citizens. The destroyer Pillsbury is on its way to Tientsin, Shanghai province, and the cruiser Asheville has been ordered to Tientsin. It was used in the Boxer uprising of 1900 as a base for the foreign expeditionary force.

Although there have been no anti-foreign incidents in the north comparable to those which took place at Nanking and other nationalist-controlled cities, there is anxiety here

Man Falling 170 Feet Strikes Two Others

New York, April 1 (By A. P.).—One man was killed and two others were injured, probably fatally, when William Mullone, 22, hurtled 15 floors down an elevator shaft in a building under construction in Brooklyn today.

As Mullone made the 170-foot plunge to his death, he struck Richard Detloff, 32, of Wayne, N. J., who was working on top of the elevator cage in the sub-basement, both men crashing through the elevator roof, falling on Joseph Wademan, 28, who was working inside the car. Mullone was dead when fellow-workmen reached him. Detloff and Wademan suffered severe internal injuries.

Woman in Florida To Die by Electricity

Jacksonville, Fla., April 1 (By A. P.).—Anna Mae Jackson, alias Billy Jackson, today was sentenced to death in the electric chair for the murder of her husband, Hugh Jackson, last October. She is the second white woman in the history of Florida to be sentenced to death.

Berlin Pays Interest To Reparations Agent

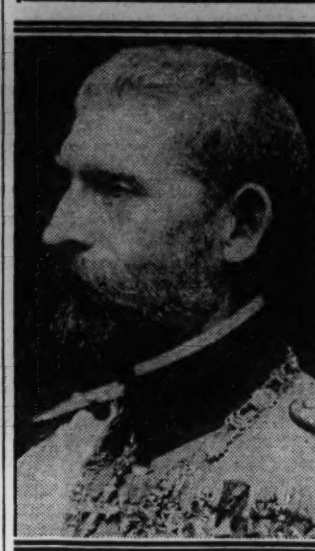

Berlin, April 1 (By A. P.).—In accordance with the Dawes agreement, the bank for German industrial obligations today handed 125,000,000 marks to the agent general for reparation payments.

The sum represents the first half-yearly installment of interest due for the third reparation year, on the mortgage on German industry of 5,000,000,000 marks.

FERDINAND OF ROUMANIA.

ONE HAND BY BRITAIN AGAINST CANTON IS SEEN

London Wants U. S. Support, but Is Prepared to Act Alone if Necessary.

FIRM ACTION IS OUTLINED

London, April 1 (By A. P.).—Great Britain is prepared to play a lone hand and a strong hand, if necessary, in settling the Nanking affair.

A note to the Cantonese authorities, stating the British demands, was approved by the cabinet today and is to be forwarded to the Washington and Tokyo governments in the hope they will agree to make the protest jointly, otherwise Great Britain will act alone.

It is understood the final draft of the note demands reparations for the victims of the Nanking outrages or their families, punishment of the perpetrators and apologies to the governments whose consulates were looted and whose officials were attacked.

The cabinet also considered what action to take in the event of rejection of the British demand by the Cantonese. On this question, however, it is indicated that Great Britain's policy has not taken very definite form.

Much depends upon the wishes of the United States and Japan. Suggestions have come from both capitals which might be incorporated in the British plan of action. However, in this case also, Great Britain will act alone if not supported by the other powers.

The fixing of responsibility for the Nanking attacks on individuals of the Cantonese troops will be left entirely to the nationalist government, on which the British place responsibility for the events at Nanking. Officials here believe that establishment of a commission of inquiry composed of foreigners would be futile, resulting only in delay in liquidating the whole affair.

Although advocating drastic and immediate action to obtain full satisfaction regarding Nanking, officials here emphasize that Great Britain's fundamental policy of conciliation for China and recognition of the legitimate aspirations of the nationalists is unaltered. When the Nanking affair is closed, it is stated, Great Britain intends to carry out this announced policy to the fullest extent, or to whatever point the nationalists will cooperate.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., April 1 (By A. P.). Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., wife of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, today issued a brief but definite statement that, "if elected," she would "endeavor to do her duty as long as she holds office."

Tomorrow, without opposition, she is to be treasurer of the village of Cove Neck, Long Island, and handle all the corporate funds, taxes, bonded indebtedness—if any—and financial statistics of a community of about one dozen taxpayers.

Irapuato, Guanajuato, Mex., April 1. A desperate battle, lasting from early morning until sunset, was fought Wednesday on the border of the states of Michoacan and Jalisco, between troops of the Mexican federal army under Gen. Pablo Diaz, and rebels bearing the banner of the revolting Catholics.

The rebels entrenched themselves behind rocks on both sides of the deep canyon, the entrance to which is known as Paraje Del Lobo, or "Place of the Wolf." Four hundred federal troops attempted to force a passage of the canyon, which was defended by 300 rebels, and in so doing had to climb the sides of the canyon. From rock to rock, and other places of shelter, the federal advanced, meeting steady resistance. At times the battle was hand-to-hand as the federal soldiers forced one after another of the ledges defended by the insurgents who, standing on high projecting elevations, had an undisputed advantage over the federal.

At one time during the battle more than 400 men were struggling for the possession of a vantage point on the dry heights of the great canyon. The men killed or wounded struggled and rolled to the depths far below.

Step by step, all day, the insurgents retreated only to take up other positions of vantage along the irregular, rugged, far-reaching sides of the canyon. Toward night the rebels withdrew into the rugged mountains, carrying their wounded with them. Thirty-seven dead and more than 50 wounded rebels left within the federal lines were taken from the battle field by the Diaz forces, indicating the fierceness of the battle, the most desperate fought so far in the present campaign.

For more than three weeks the rebels have been gathering in the rugged mountains between the states of Michoacan and Jalisco, where here rise in places from 12,000 to 14,000 feet above sea level.

The government is preparing to enlist 10,000 additional troops for a war on the rebels, and the arms factory near Mexico City is working night and day to furnish uniforms and ammunition to the new recruits.

FERDINAND IS DYING, DISORDERS FEARED, BUCHAREST ADVISES

Military and Police Take Precautions Against Disturbance.

KING NOT TO SURVIVE NEW CRISIS, IS BELIEF

Daughter Called Home, but Former Prince Carol Is Remaining in France.

Paris, April 1 (By A. P.).—Advice from Belgrade says that it was reported tonight in court circles that King Ferdinand of Roumania, whose illness was reported today to have taken a turn for the worse, was expected to face a crisis tonight which his physicians did not believe he would survive.

The police and military authorities in Bucharest were said to have taken all precautions in view of possible disorders which might follow the king's death.

Carol Remains at Neully.

Although direct news from Bucharest merely stated that the king's condition had taken a serious turn for the worse, the cutting of communications between Bucharest and Vienna and other points has caused intense anxiety in the Roumanian colony in Paris.

Late today it was reported from Vienna that the king had died, but this was taken with a considerable grain of salt in Paris. Dispatches to Vienna tonight from Bucharest were reported to show evidence of censorship.

Prince Carol remained at his home in Neully tonight and refused to receive callers bearing news of his father's condition. So far as could be learned he made no preparations to hurry to the king's bedside.

A French secret service guard still is maintained outside the residence of the former crown prince, who has given his word of honor to the Paris prefect of police not to leave Neully without giving advance word of his intentions and destination.

The sudden stoppage last night of communications from Bucharest to neighboring countries was the first indication that the condition of King Ferdinand had become worse and the Roumanian legation in Paris today had merely the three days old news that the king was suffering from an attack of grip.

It is known that Queen Marie, of Yugoslavia, daughter of King Ferdinand, took a train for Bucharest at 11 o'clock last night. It was learned also in Paris that Dr. Stuy, the Belgian radium expert, who recently gave the king radium treatments, has gone to Bucharest.

Slight Gain Reported.

Bucharest, April 1 (By A. P.).—A slight improvement in the condition of King Ferdinand of Roumania was announced tonight.

ALL RIVERDALE POLICE ARE ASKED TO RESIGN

Action by Mayor and Council Follows Disclosure of "Speed Trap."

MAY ARREST CONSTABLE

Mayor John H. Schaefer and the town council of Riverdale, Md., last night unanimously demanded the resignation of the entire police force of the town following disclosure of the operation of a so-called speed trap and complaints from many Hyattsville residents against arrests for minor infractions of law by Riverdale officers. The towns join.

On top of the action of the Riverdale governing body Mayor Irvin Owings of Hyattsville announced his determination to bring about the arrest of Ernest Greer, who as a State constable precipitated the situation which was brought to a climax last night through his arrest in connection with the speed trap.

Mayor Owings alleged that Greer's commission as a constable has expired, and he intended to have him arrested on charges of impersonating an officer and making illegal arrests in Hyattsville.

The meeting of the council attracted such a large audience that the usual meeting place would not accommodate those wishing to attend and the meeting was held in the fire department hall with 200 persons attending. Charles C. Collins, attorney for the American Automobile association, and T. F. Behler, of the association, who brought the situation to a climax by demanding the arrest of Greer and his assistant earlier in the week, attended the hearing but took no part in the proceedings.

The resolution demanding the resignation of all the town police officers was presented by Councilman J. T. Harrington and was adopted unanimously, the audience joining in the "aye" which rose in response to Mayor Schaefer's request for a vote. Justice of the Peace E. S. Aldridge, the judge in the so-called speed trap, and Earl Monroe, town bailiff, one of the officers, whose resignation was demanded, raised their voices to shout a "no."

What will be the next move by the police officers could not be learned. Harvey E. Smith, chief of the police force; Monroe, bailiff, and Underhill Mallette and Shipley, all of whom were ousted, refused to make any statement.

JAPANESE IN TERROR AFTER HEAVY QUAKE

Western Part of Country Is Shaken; Casualties Are Not Reported.

London, April 1 (By A. P.).—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokyo says a heavy earthquake was reported at 6 o'clock this morning throughout western Japan.

The districts which suffered in the disaster early last month are panic-stricken, the dispatch adds, but from the reports received there appears to have been no casualties.

(A violent earthquake shook central Japan March 7, killing 3,274 persons and injuring 6,734, according to figures given out by the home office. The quake was particularly destructive in the old province of Tango.)

(By the Associated Press.)

Sharp earth shocks were recorded yesterday by the seismograph at Georgetown university, beginning at 2:22 p. m. and continuing more than two and one-half hours. They reached a maximum at 2:55, and the center of disturbance was estimated by Director Tondorf at 4,900 miles from Washington.

Llando, Monmouthshire, Wales, April 1 (By A. P.).—Rafael Sabatini, Jr., only son of the well-known author, was killed today while motoring with his mother. The car, which he was driving, overturned. Mrs. Sabatini was severely injured.

Rafael Sabatini, a native of Italy, has achieved prominence through his tales of romance and adventure, some of which have been dramatized. His best-known stories are "The Sea Hawk," "Scaramouche," "Captain Blood" and "Bellarion." The Sabatinis make their home in London.

TERRORISM REIGNS IN TEXAS OIL TOWN; RANGERS TO SCENE

Borger, Year Old, Asks Martial Law After More Killings.

TWO DEPUTIES SLAIN; MOB HAS GATHERED

Lawless Element in Control of "Boom" Settlement of 15,000, It Is Said.

Austin, Tex., April 1 (By A. P.).—Ten Texas rangers late today were ordered to Borger, Panhandle oil boom town, by Gov. Dan Moody, to "stay until the lawless element is completely suppressed."

The rangers were sent in answer to a request for martial law, which Gov. Moody said he did not think justified at present.

A second district attorney to aid the one now serving in the county will be appointed soon, Moody added.

Two Deputies Are Slain.

Borger, Tex., April 1 (By A. P.).—Citizens of Borger hailed with relief tonight word from Austin that ten Texas rangers were en route here to stamp out the lawless element which has thrived on the mushroom growth of this oil boom town.

The killing of two deputy sheriffs early today on a road near here was the final stroke that aroused the better element of the citizenry to appeal to Gov. Dan Moody for the aid of State forces.

All available officers in Borger departed hurriedly late tonight for Stinnett, county seat of Hutchinson county, following reports that a mob was forming in front of the county jail, where three men, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriffs Terry and Kenyon, were confined.

Despite a cordon thrown around the jail, Sheriff Owsby was fearful that an attempt would be made to storm the building. Stinnett is 15 miles from here.

In the one-year history of Borger four peace officers have been slain. There have been numerous slayings in dance halls and dives, and a woman was shot to death in a holdup of a filling station. Vice in all its forms has flourished, with the riff-raff of the country attracted here by the lure of easy money.

Town of 15,000 on Plains. Borger, in the Panhandle of Texas, owes its existence to the rich oil field brought in here. On the wind-swept plains a town of 15,000 has grown up almost overnight.

While martial law was requested of Gov. Moody, his dispatch of ten rangers with orders to stay until the "lawless element is completely suppressed," was considered sufficient to cope with the situation.

Three men were held tonight under heavy guard at the county jail at Stinnett as the aftermath of the robbery of a bank at Pampa yesterday and the killing of two officers this morning which spread terror through the oil fields.

Died Trying to Capture Bandits.

Hugh Walker and Ed Bailey were arrested early today in connection with the slaying of the officers, Pat Kenyon and A. L. Terry, Hutchinson county deputy sheriffs, whose lifeless bodies were found near the oil town of Whittierburg. Just before noon "Whittier" Walker, brother of Hugh, identified as one of the Pampa bank robbers, was arrested here and is also held in connection with the murder of the two officers.

FORD REMOVED TO HOME; MUST REMAIN ON BACK

Auto Man Chafes Under the Regulations of Hospital; Attack Now Doubtful.

SIGNS INDICATE ACCIDENT

Detroit, Mich., April 1 (By A. P.).—Amid the peaceful surroundings of his home, Henry Ford tonight impatiently obeyed the instructions of his personal physician that he remain flat on his back in bed as the quickest and surest means of recovering from injuries received last Sunday night when the little coupe in which he was riding alone was forced from the road.

Meanwhile the statements and rumors describing the accident as a result of a deliberate attempt to kill Mr. Ford, dwindled to an expression of belief that it actually was an accident, possibly unknown to the driver who caused it. Possibility of further official investigation virtually had vanished.

Never having known the restraint of a hospital, the world's reputed richest man chafed under that imposed upon him even in his own institution, the Henry Ford hospital, and demanded that he be returned to his home for the period of complete rest and recuperation directed. That the doctors permitted the injured man's wish to prevail was accepted as an indication that the X-ray and other examinations made at the hospital had disclosed nothing seriously wrong, despite the concussion and slight internal hemorrhages spoken of in the first announcement of the accident as having appeared and been overcome.

The two sources close to the 64-year-old manufacturer, who last Wednesday night announced that an attempt to kill him had been made, still had not recanted tonight, but Harry H. Bennett, head of the large force of Ford investigators, said that neither his principal nor he regarded the crash as anything

MARYLAND SENATE PASSES HOME RULE AND PLANNING BILLS

Amendment Restricts Montgomery Suburban Bond Issue to $250,000.

SPAULDING, OXON HILL DISTRICTS ELIMINATED

Boundaries of Park Commission to Be Same as That of Sanitary Body.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
Annapolis, Md., April 1.—The senate tonight passed the bill creating a self-governing district out of the suburban area of Montgomery county and the bill establishing the Montgomery and Prince Georges county National Capital park and planning commission. Both measures, the main features of the program to make suburban Montgomery and Prince Georges county a part of the figurative Washington metropolitan area, go back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments. The most important amendment to the so-called county government bill restricts the bond issue which the county commissioners may make for public improvements to $250,000, of which a tax up to 30 cents may be levied. Amendments to the planning bill make it possible for one of three commissioners from each county to be appointed from the sanitary commission. The other two from each county must be appointed from the planning district.

Two Districts Dropped Out.
Other amendments lay off the Oxon Hill and Spaulding districts of Prince Georges county from the planning district. The Oxon Hill district embraces Fort Belvoir, Reservoir and the two districts involved, however, are understood to have been objected to being in the planning area. As the bill passed the senate, the planning district in Prince Georges county now follows identically the boundaries of the sanitary commission. It follows the sanitary commission's boundaries generally in Montgomery county. Both counties will have available after July 1, aside from revenue raised by tax levies, an appropriation of $50,000 each for park acquisitions. This $100,000 fund was made available in the State debt bill already passed. Montgomery county's government bill makes of the suburban section specified a legislative entity over which the county commissioners will have full jurisdiction with the powers of a municipal council. The two commissioners administering directly to the area will receive $1,200 annually in addition to their present salaries, while if one or both of them give their full time to the office, the additional increase will be $1,800 a year. It will be determined in the county whether one or both give this full-time attention.

Some Localities Excluded.
In November, 1920, two additional commissioners are to be elected who will have jurisdiction over the suburban area. The entire board of commissioners will, of course, always be the full governing board. Silver Spring and Bethesda are the two principal Montgomery county towns embraced in the suburban area and coming within the new legislative area. Chevy Chase, Kensington and Takoma Park are now special taxing areas and will not be a part of the new district. They will, however, be a part of the planning district.

The house passed on second reading a bill by Senator Sasser authorizing the Prince Georges county commissioners to issue bonds for $40,000 to build a new jail at Upper Marlboro. It must have one more reading, already having passed the senate. A bill, sponsored by the Prince Georges delegation to incorporate the

Millionaire Senator Borahs $1 for Meal

(By the Associated Press.)
Senator Couzens, of Michigan, who is a millionaire, was forced yesterday to borrow $1 from Senator Borah, of Idaho, before he could eat lunch. The Michigan senator had forgotten that the Senate restaurant, where senators have charge accounts, had closed, and he was faced either with going hungry or raising some money. He met Senator Borah outside the Capitol and explained that he had left his pocketbook at home and needed $1.

"That's an old story," replied Borah. "I believe you're broke, but here's the dollar. This is the proudest moment of my life."

town of Maryland Park, passed second reading in the house today. It will have to be speeded up if it is to receive final action before the session adjourns. A delegation from Cabin Johns composed of A. C. Williams, W. B. Armstrong and Capt. E. R. King, clerk, appeared before the Montgomery county legislative contingent today urging that the provision for a $500,000 school Cabin Johns be retained in the $450,000 school bond bill. Glen Echo representatives want it placed in their town.

DISTRICT HELD UNABLE TO OBEY ECONOMY ORDER

Donovan Believes Cut in Expenditures, Demanded by Lord, Is Impossible.

UP TO DIVISION CHIEFS

Maj. Daniel J. Donovan, District auditor, yesterday reported to the commissioners that it is unlikely they will be able to obey a recent demand of Brig. Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the bureau of the budget, for a 2 per cent reduction in the expenditure for personal services during the current fiscal year. Last June Gen. Lord promulgated a circular directing that all government departments effect such a saving and turn the money into the Treasury for its surplus. March 10, he referred to the commissioners that he had received no report from them in compliance with his circular. The letter was referred to Donovan. He reported as follows to the commissioners:

"I believe it is conclusively and convincingly established that the District government is not overmanned, but, on the contrary, every branch of its service is in urgent need of additional personnel if the public business is to be effectively administered. It does not seem practicable to carry out the provision of the circular of the bureau of the budget without serious impairment of the ability of the departments to render that measure of service to which the public is entitled and for which it pays. 'In a number of offices a great deal of overtime work is required and employees are not able to obtain the usual 30 days' leave.'"

The commissioners ordered Donovan to carry a copy of Lord's circular to every department head with a request for a report on whether or not the suggested saving can be made.

$30,000 LOANED TO 300 BY VETERANS' BUREAU

2,000 Requests Received in All; 900 During Day From District.

ONE EMERGENCY CASE

Loans aggregating more than $30,000 were made to approximately 300 veterans, most of whom reside in Washington, by the veterans' bureau yesterday. The loans averaged $100, it was reported. The bureau launched into the loan business when the doors were opened at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. Nor was business wanting. The tellers at the three windows in the little bank arranged for loan purposes in room 291 of the bureau immediately were swamped by applications from a crowd of loan hungry veterans who filled in, filling the room.

It was estimated that 900 local veterans are applying for loans during the day. Altogether, about 1,100 applications, it is said, have been received by mail, bringing the total number so far received here to about 2,000.

Col. M. B. MacMillan, manager of the local regional office, reported that only one "emergency" application was received. Comptroller General McCar's decision on the request of Director Franklin D. Hines for authority to borrow $25,000,000 from the adjusted service certificate fund to provide a reserve loan fund will probably be made informally today, it was reported yesterday at the comptroller's office.

Sinclair Arguments Deferred Till Tuesday

Argument on the question of whether Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, should be sentenced for four alleged acts of contempt of the Senate or for just one act, was postponed yesterday by Justice Hitz in criminal court until Tuesday. Sinclair was convicted on four counts of an indictment charging him with having refused to answer as many questions propounded by the Senate committee on public lands and surveys on March 22, 1924. Attorneys Littleton and Hoover contend that the court can impose a fine on Sinclair for one offense, which includes all four questions, while District Attorney Peyton Gordon contends Sinclair should be sentenced on each of the four counts of the indictment.

Wines Called Popular As Debt Settlement

Most Americans would not object if France were given the opportunity to pay her war debts in light wines and champagnes. Dr. John H. Latane, professor of American history at Hopkins university, Friday night told students of the Georgetown University School of the Service in a lecture on war debts and their settlement. He declared that the mere signing of debt settlement does not dispose of the problem. He urged a general conference on war debts and reparations to be participated in by all nations concerned. Dr. Latane was introduced by Dr. William Notz, dean of the foreign service school.

LIMITING AIRPLANES BAFFLES LEAGUE'S EXPERTS ON ARMS

U. S. Opposed to Any Effort to Restrict Civil Aviation,
Gibson Says.

INCLUDING PERSONNEL

France, However, Insists Both Men and Machines Must Be Counted.

Geneva, April 1 (By A. P.).—The League of Nations preparatory commission, which is trying to draft a general disarmament treaty, wrestled valiantly today with the problem of the airplane. The delegates found limiting airplane armament a baffling task because the rapid development of aircraft has made it difficult to measure the future value of the airplane as a weapon of war. They further were handicapped by the close relation of commercial aircraft to military equipment.

Hugh Gibson, American delegate, served notice that the United States is opposed to any effort to limit civil aviation. He declared aerial limitation should be restricted to the air forces under the colors or subject to a call to the colors and aircraft actually in service or in reserve.

He warned the delegates that any attempt to include in the trained reserves civilians possessing some special technical training but without military training would be open to grave practical objections.

The United States government, he added, believes any attempt to make limitation dependent upon aircraft in the hands of the civilian population and not subject to governmental control for war purposes would be doomed to failure.

Viscount Cecil, England, wanted limitation restricted to aircraft; Paul Boncour, France, however, demanded limitation of personnel also; saying that without this the treaty would be subjected to ridicule. M. Boncour also proposed that Japan, Great Britain and the United States be asked to limit their own armaments.

The commission today completed the sections of the draft treaty concerning army effectiveness. The discussion of aviation will be continued tomorrow.

LOANS MADE HERE TO FARMERS BRING $20,000 TO SAPIRO

Fees Represent Labor That Required but One Brief
Visit to Capital.

PLAINTIFF CONFIDENT IN HIS BASIC SCHEME

Judge Upholds Him in One
Tilt With Reed; Later He Rebukes Wrangling.

Detroit, April 1 (By A. P.).—An amazingly lucrative field of endeavor was held up to view at the $10,000,000 loan suit against Henry Ford today as Senator James A. Reed revealed the activities of Aaron Sapiro, organizer of farmers' cooperative associations.

Almost $20,000 was collected by the Chicago attorney for obtaining loans for associations he had helped form. He represented 13 cooperatives before the War Finance Corporation at Washington in the fall of 1921, and collected fees from 10. This trip to the Capital, Sapiro testified, only took "a few days."

The path of the man who eludes Ford's Dearborn Independent injured his reputation by a series of articles was not all roses, however. He admitted he had been discharged from the service of the War Finance Corporation, although two cotton associations, although two later reinstated him. Tennessee, Alabama and North Carolina cotton growers dispensed with his services, but he regained the good graces of the latter two.

Sapiro Answers Rapidly.

Senator Reed, chief counsel in his cross-examination, floundered the cooperative field and spent most of his time on the cotton associations.

Sapiro answered rapidly and took rapidly for the senator, who was taking notes as well as conducting the questioning.

Reed and Sapiro continued the wrangling that characterized the two previous days of testimony and finally drew a rebuke from Judge Fred L. Beaman.

"It is natural that the proceeding should be more argumentative than usual," said he, "because both the witness and questioner are lawyers. But it is not good form and does not make for speed. I must ask both of you to hold more closely to question and answer."

Earlier in the day the senator appealed to the judge because he said Sapiro was splitting hairs on questions the defense attorney asked and throwing in comment which had no place in the record.

Sapiro had objected to a question that made it appear he had made speeches for a solid year in Texas in the interest of the cotton association.

The judge upheld his objection. Sapiro's attitude clearly was one of confidence in the soundness of his cooperative plans and the justice of fees charged for organizing and counseling the associations. He answered questions to which William Henry Gallagher, his attorney, attempted to object, getting them out before his counsel could get to his feet.

Senator Reed asked the witness the name of the local counsel for the Georgia cotton growers and Sapiro replied it had slipped his memory but perhaps the senator could help him.

"He was chairman of the Georgia delegation to the last Democratic national convention," said Sapiro.

"Not having been there, I can't help you out," growled the veteran Missourian.

Reed asked the witness the name of the local counsel for the Georgia cotton growers and Sapiro replied it had slipped his memory but perhaps the senator could help him.

"He was chairman of the Georgia delegation to the last Democratic national convention," said Sapiro.

Chicago Opera Musicians Get $15 a Performance

Chicago, April 1 (By A. P.).—Members of the Chicago Civic Opera Company orchestra today laid claim anew to being the world's highest salaried musicians following announcement of a $1 raise for each performance for the first year and a $2 increase for each performance for the second year.

The new salary schedule provides for $15 a performance the first year and $3.50 for rehearsal. Members of the stage band will receive $15 a performance instead of $12.

The agreement may have a bearing on the dispute over salaries of players of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, all of whom were discharged as a matter of form today pending negotiations for new salaries.

The defense attorney drew fire when he touched on Sapiro's address to cotton growers at Montgomery, Ala., in 1920.

"It is true, it is not that when you arrived at Montgomery you found your name was not on the program and complained to the chairman of the meeting?"

"It is absolutely not true," flared Sapiro.

"Well, you turned in a bill for $250 expenses didn't you?"

"Yes."

"And you had some discussion about it?"

"None at all. They just did not pay it."

The meeting was before representative cotton growers of the South and was the first step in formation of cooperatives.

The associations which received loans from the War Finance Corporation as a result of Sapiro's activities and fees paid Sapiro were listed by the witness as follows:

California Prune and Apricot Growers, $2,000; Washington and Idaho Wheat, $3,000; Texas Farm Bureau Cotton, $3,500; Oklahoma Cotton, $2,000 or $3,000; Georgia Cotton, $1,000; North Carolina Cotton, $2,000; Arkansas Cotton, $1,500; Arizona Pima Cotton, $1,750; and Alabama Cotton, $1,500.

ABOLITION OF BOARD
BY GEN. WOOD UPHOLD

Insular Supreme Court Decision on Control Body May Be Appealed.

Manila, April 1 (By A. P.).—Governor General Wood's action in abolishing the board of control through which the several government-owned corporations in the Philippine Islands were controlled was upheld today by the insular supreme court.

The decision places Gen. Wood in direct control of $50,000,000 in government property. It was indicated that the decision would be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

Gen. Wood some months ago abolished the board of control on the ground that it was illegal in that its membership, being made up of two members of the insular senate and Gen. Wood, enabled the legislative branch of the government to usurp powers given exclusively to the administrative branch as represented by the governor general.

The two members of the board of control, besides Gen. Wood, were Manuel Quizon and Manuel Roxas, Filipino leaders, both opposed to the governor general's policies.

Today's decision favored Gen. Wood in quo warranto proceedings to oust corporation officers elected by Quizon and Roxas.

CLOSED MINES TO OPEN ON A NONUNION BASIS

Owners in Pennsylvania Hit
First in Suspension-Over
Pay Agreement.

NO WORRY IN CAPITAL

Chicago, April 1 (By A. P.).—Pittsburgh mine operators today struck the first blow in the bituminous coal fields wage war. The Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation announced that henceforth its seven mines, employing 3,100 men, will be operated as nonunion.

Almost at the same time that notices were posted at the Terminal corporation's property stating it would be "suspension of activities at many mines" for the company to continue working under the Jacksonville agreement, John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers of America, declared at Taylorville, Ill., that "this is no time to talk about a wage reduction for miners."

(By the Associated Press.)

While keeping a close eye on the differences between bituminous operators and miners, which resulted in a suspension of activities at many mines yesterday, the administration showed little alarm over the situation.

More than 80,000,000 tons of the coal are above the surface. Secretary Davis of the Labor Department said, after the cabinet meeting, and Secretary Hoover declared there could be no famine in the bituminous market for at least a year.

No government intervention is possible, Mr. Davis said.

While the Labor Department often supplies mediators in an effort to adjust differences between employers and employees, no such action is contemplated at this time, the labor secretary said.

LEAGUE HELPS IN CHINESE TROUBLE, WOMAN DECLARES

Unity of Powers Is Urged
Before Meeting of University Association.

CRISIS WORLD AFFAIR, MME. WICKSELL SAYS

Effect on Geneva Body to Be Watched by Universe,
She Holds.

The League of Nations may be forced to intervene in the Chinese situation, Mme. Anna Bugge-Wicksell, a member of the mandate commission of the league, declared last night at the international dinner of the American Association of University Women at the Mayflower hotel.

At the same time Mme. Wicksell declared that it would be better for all the powers, including the United States, to unite in their negotiations with China. She thought that other nations would rather do this than hand the matter over to the league, with the "United States staying outside." Such a course, she said, could not be construed as a lack of confidence in the league.

The British, French and Italian Ambassadors, stood before the 900 university women at the dinner and frankly confessed that he had never had a university education. He had "strapped along somehow," he said, but he admitted that he faced the women with considerable timidity. He was given a hearty ovation at the conclusion of his brief address.

Ambassador Rene Claudel, of France, and Minister Timothy C. Smiddy, of the Irish Free State, greeted the delegates on behalf of the women of their own countries.

"The Chinese situation," said Mme. Wicksell, "is a world entanglement. We are all in it, Europe, Asia and America. And we are all deeply interested in how it will affect the league. If you analyze what is going on in China just now, you will find two things. One is a civil war of long standing and with regard to the moral and legal principle of nonintervention obtains, not only for the different powers interested in China, but also for the league. Indeed, it still is more necessary for the league to strictly observe this international law than it is for the individual states."

"The other thing we see in China just now is an admitted exception to the rule of nonintervention. It has always been considered the right of every state, if a civil war is going on somewhere, to protect its own citizens and their property from violence. The acknowledgment of this rule is expressed in the fact that such protection, even if it takes the form of fighting, is not considered as and is called international war. What is going on now in China constitutes no aggression against the foreign powers, and no aggression of these powers against China, and I hope and believe no such thing will happen; certainly neither China nor the powers are wanting."

"But there is no denying that the situation may be dangerous. Even if nobody wants war, you may tumble into it unawares. If that should happen the league would have to intervene. And it would be a very difficult position for the league. China is a member of the league through the northern government. If that government is dissolved or actually put out of function, who is China? Who is China even now?"

Officials Are Powerless.

"The southern generals are not recognized, the northern government is powerless. There is nobody to negotiate with; nobody who is able to guarantee that an agreement will be kept and fulfilled. The southern generals are not pledged to the league, and if at the time when they are wanted they are still guided by Russia, they will probably refuse to respond. In that case, the only way out of the difficulty that I can see, would be for the league council to exclude China from the league, according to article 16 of the covenant, and give the warring powers a free hand. But I am quite sure it will not come to this, if it possibly can be avoided."

"If there is a hope of all the powers, including the United States, standing united in their negotiations with China, I should think that this would be considered such a great advantage that the powers members of the league would prefer coming to an agreement with China this way to handing the matter over to the league, with the United States staying outside. I think they would be right and such a course ought not to be construed as lack of confidence in the league."

Dean Virginia C. Glidersleeve, former president of the International Federation of University Women, declared that the university women ardently desired world peace and friendship.

Miss Mary Wooley, president of Mount Holyoke college, was nominated at the morning session to be president of the association, and it was said that her election today was a virtual certainty. New Orleans was selected for the 1929 convention.

Americans Not Neglected In China, Kellogg Asserts

Statement Follows Charges of Lack of Firmness in Providing Protection—More Marines Massed for Trip If Asked by Admiral.

(By the Associated Press.)

Firm intention of the Washington government to use whatever means necessary to protect Americans in China was reiterated yesterday in a formal statement by Secretary Kellogg, issued shortly after orders had gone out sending 1,500 additional marines to stand by at San Diego, Calif., awaiting developments. A platoon of light tanks and two batteries of motorized field guns go with the new contingent of marines.

"The United States government is taking necessary steps to protect the lives and property of Americans in China," Secretary Kellogg said. He added that no orders for American evacuation of Shanghai had been issued from Washington and that only those Americans located at points in China where protection could not be afforded had been advised to withdraw by Minister MacMurray at Peking.

Mr. Kellogg's statement was prompted by the published charges against Americans at Shanghai, including certain officials of the municipal council, which over a pronounced weakening in the authority of Anhochun, or northern war lords. It is feared that the lapse of the northern militarists might result in anarchical conditions which would imperil the lives of foreigners.

The ignominious defeat of Gen. Chang Teung-Chang at Shanghai and ranking by the nationalists has greatly diminished his prestige in the province of Shantung, and consequently has increased the possibility of disorders there.

A majority of foreign women and children have been evacuated from Ningpo in Chekiang province, south of Shanghai, while virtually all foreigners have left Changsha, in Hunan, and Wuhu and Chungking on the Yangtze.

Japanese Fleets Appear.

Two strong Japanese fleets have appeared on the Chinese coast, but it was explained the visits were merely part of a show of force. The fleet, consisting of 31 vessels, including battleships, the Nanking, arrived at Tsingtao in the north. The other, consisting of 27 vessels, including 3 cruisers, arrived at Amoy in the south.

Reports from Japanese sources in Peking said that the Japanese minister there, acting on instructions from his home government, has called on the British minister and has suggested the formation of a joint commission made up of representatives of the powers concerned and competent Chinese authorities to investigate the disorders and demand from the nationalist government an apology, indemnity and guarantees for the future in accordance with its findings.

Sought to Block Auto.

Tracks of the dead men's automobile indicated they had swerved across the road in an apparent attempt to block an oncoming car, and it is the opinion of officials that the fatal shooting ensued.

Three hours later Henry Field, driving a wedding party, found the automobile in the road and the bodies on the ground.

The elusive bandit leader laid his plans well as the band drove out of Pampa after looting the bank. Speeding across the rough terrain of Hutchinson county, the robbers headed for the Archer farmhouse, midway between Pampa and Borger. With drawn pistols, they approached the house and demanded entrance.

All through the afternoon the robber gang stood guard over W. E. Archer and his sister.

At dusk the bandit leader ordered the farmer and his sister into a closet, locked them in and then rolled the big sedan out of the garage and proceeded on their journey.

RADIO BOARD TAKES HEARING TESTIMONY UNDER ADVISEMENT

Multitude of Proposals Given to Remedy Congestion in Broadcasting.

PUBLIC SERVICE WORTH URGED IN RELICENSING

Not Expected to Adopt Station
Reduction Plan for General
Application.

(By the Associated Press.)

Concluding four days of public hearings, at which scores of representatives of radio interests appeared, the Federal radio commission last night took under advisement a voluminous record of testimony out of which it hopes to bring a semblance of order to the present chaotic radio situation.

A multitude of proposals to remedy congestion resulting from 734 stations using 95 available wave lengths was offered, and these the commission is at liberty to use in reaching a starting point for relicensing stations after April 24, when the 60-day respite allowed by law expires.

One of the mass of suggestions, came several large scale plans which, if adopted, would revolutionize present broadcasting by wholesale reduction of the number of stations.

While no announcement was made by the commission, the prevailing opinion among observers was that the control body would not adopt any station reduction plan for general application to the country as a whole, but rather would tackle its admittedly difficult problem in a gradual manner by eliminating only those stations which from time to time are proved useless from a public service standpoint.

Urges Public Service Viewpoint.

One proposal put forward yesterday, and which is expected to have some weight with the commission, was that of S. B. Davis, solicitor of the Commerce Department, who is considered an expert on radio matters. He proposed that the commission consider each application for a license on its merits from a public service standpoint, classifying them by wave lengths desired, and go down the line for all available wave lengths, which would make possible at least a tentative ruling as to which stations shall use a particular broadcast channel.

He realized that under this procedure there must be some stations eliminated, but declared the commission should not "shut its eyes to that necessity."

Several favored Mr. Davis' idea, although R. S. McBride, of this city, said it would be better to proceed on a geographical rather than a single wave length basis in passing on applications. Further plans were heard on behalf of market, educational and religious program broadcasters, especially those of land grant colleges and the extensive farm radio service of the Department of Agriculture.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL.

When a survey is made of the long and complicated efforts that culminated in the completion of the Panama canal, it is evident that President Coolidge is wise in considering the project of building the Nicaragua canal. If precedent be a guide in estimating the time that will be consumed, the Nicaragua canal will not be opened to traffic before 1940 at the earliest. The Panama canal property was turned over to the United States on May 4, 1904, and the first vessel passed through the canal on May 19, 1914.

Much negotiation, covering many years, preceded the date when the United States acquired physical possession of the Panama canal property. Not as much negotiation would be needed in the case of the Nicaragua canal, as the United States already has the right to build the canal. But the Bryan-Chamorro treaty provides that "the details of the terms upon which such canal shall be constructed, operated and maintained" shall be "agreed to by the two governments whenever the government of the United States shall notify the government of Nicaragua of its desire or intention to construct such canal."

Before the two governments could perfect an agreement covering the many details pertaining to the project, the subject doubtless would be discussed exhaustively in Congress. This discussion, even if there should be no delay on account of domestic politics, would consume much time. The negotiation of an agreement with Nicaragua would probably consume additional months.

From the date when the treaty between the United States and Panama was signed until the first vessel passed through the canal a period of ten years and six months elapsed. But the ground had been laid by previous consideration of the project, and the country was ready to support the government. Perhaps two or three years may be required before Congress and the country would be ready to undertake the building of the Nicaragua canal. Thus it seems reasonable to estimate that thirteen years will elapse before the Nicaragua canal will be completed, if the enterprise is undertaken at once.

The growth of traffic through the Panama canal is such as to require the making of plans for additional capacity or for another canal. Rough estimates of the cost of increasing the facilities of the Panama canal range from $125,000,000 to $250,000,000. The Nicaragua canal would cost $300,000,000 or more. But the factor of certainty in transoceanic communication would be greater with a second canal than with the enlargement of the Panama canal. An earthquake at Panama would not be likely to put a canal in Nicaragua out of commission, or vice versa.

UNREST IN INDIA.

The silence observed by the Earl of Birkenhead regarding any plan for the increase of home rule in India, in the course of his statement on Indian affairs in the British house of lords on Wednesday last, was more eloquent than words. It would, indeed, have been difficult for the secretary for India to hold out any hope or make any promise for further development of self-government in that country, in view of the gloomy picture of conditions there which the stern logic of facts compelled him to draw.

It was the secretary's unpleasant duty to report that, within the last six months, there had been four serious clashes between the Hindus and the Moslems, and that the jealousies and suspicions of the Hindu and Moslem leaders in the fields of politics were even more disquieting than the crudely fierce manifestations of mob intolerance. In other words, the whole situation is charged with the possibilities of nation-wide disturbance. Lord Birkenhead saw, it is true, some sign of hope in the waning of the rigidity of the Swarajist attitude, and in a corresponding trend toward more responsible cooperation between the Indians and the Britons.

On the other hand, he claimed that the Indian army is not at present too large for its purposes, and indicated very emphatically that, "should certain contingencies arise," it would require to be supplemented from the imperial army, in order to be strong enough to hold its own "against any combination of menaces." He did not mention what the "contingencies" or the "menaces" were, but it was plain that he had in mind the anti-British propaganda which is being so sedulously and so unrelentingly engineered throughout the Far East by Soviet Russia.

The position in India is disquieting in the extreme. Race hatreds are intense, and may at any moment flare out into passionate outbreaks. Nowhere, perhaps, is the sinister influence of sovietism more energetically at work. It will require not only firmness in government but also the application of the most enlightened and far-seeing statesmanship to prevent disorders which, if once they take place on any large scale, might conceivably constitute a serious threat to the peace of the world.

THE RAILROAD DECISION.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has taken a definite step toward interpretation of the recapture clause of the transportation act of 1920; that is, the recovery of excess earnings of railroad companies. In the St. Louis & O'Fallon case, the commission has decided that it may determine valuation for recapture purposes by a less exhaustive method than is required for purposes of rate making, although the valuation is alike in both cases.

The commission recites that the 1920 act compels it (1) to determine the valuation of the railroads and to establish a rate that will bring 5 1/2 per cent annually on that valuation; (2) if any road earns annually a sum in excess of 6 per cent on that valuation, one-half of the excess shall be set aside as a fund to assist roads that are unable to earn a net profit. The latter provision is called the recapture clause of the act.

The valuation of any railroad necessarily affects rates and the amount of excess earnings. The representatives of the road claimed that this valuation should be the amount required to rebuild now. The commission decides that the valuation of any railroad shall be the cost to produce it in 1914, plus investments since then, less depreciation. The decision was by a divided commission—six to four. The majority decision, however, must go to the United States Supreme Court for confirmation.

In the case of the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad Co. the Supreme Court on February 21, 1927, rendered an opinion that the final order of the Interstate Commerce Commission relative to valuation of the railroads of the country is merely "the formal record of conclusions reached after a study of data collected in the course of extensive research conducted by the commission, and is solely of the function of investigation; its conclusions, if erroneous in law, may be disregarded; but neither its utterances nor its processes of reasoning, as distinguished from its acts, are a subject for injunction."

As in the Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad Co. so in the St. Louis & O'Fallon case, the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission stands, only to be overruled in case of an error in law. The effect of this decision is that large additional sums of money may be collected from the railroads on earnings in excess of 6 per cent on a rate determined by a valuation based on 1914. The commission held that rates determined on the basis of present cost of rebuilding would be "improper and unsound." It is obvious that such rates would be excessive. The recapture fund is held to be a trust fund. The decision of the commission will increase that fund materially, if confirmed by the Supreme Court.

Incidentally, the commission said that the purpose of the 1920 act could not be defeated by diverting excess income to unnecessary or excessive operating expenses, thus depleting the excess earnings above 6 per cent that should go into the recapture fund.

HONORS TO CAPABLANCA.

The city of Havana recently has held a celebration to welcome a home-coming hero. Traffic was blocked for at least an hour by crowds of cheering revelers. Aerial bombs boomed from on high. Bands played spirited airs. A distinguished official reception committee was on hand to extend the congratulations of the city. The hero was not a world-famous baseball player. He was not a world-champion boxer or wrestler. He was neither fencer, golfer nor tennis star. He had not won public fame by herculean feats performed before admiring multitudes. He had, however, won a world's championship by mental agility and ability, in a hushed room beneath shaded lamps. The hero was Jose R. Capablanca, who won the international chess masters' tourney in New York a week or so ago.

There is something of significance in the warmth of the tribute to the intellectual accomplishment of a man. It is not difficult to explain the usual public reaction toward an individual who has excelled in physical combat of one sort or another. Since the world began humanity has gloried in physical accomplishment—the veneration rendered the American sportsman hero is only another form of the adulation ancient peoples poured out upon their gladiators and warriors. Capablanca is a hero of a type of human endeavor that is rarely made the basis of public demonstration. In this day and age, when one hears so frequently that humanity is reverting to an inferior type, it is a pleasant task to record any public demonstration in honor of brains.

THE PRESS AND CRIME.

The New York State crime commission recently issued a report entitled "The Relation of the Daily Press to Crime and the Administration of Justice." Among other matters it has to do with the "glorification" manner of handling crime news by newspapers of a certain well-known type. "The danger of suggestion," says the commission, "while its results have always been realized, is rendered more acute by the coming of these newspapers which reach a strata of population which never read newspapers in former generations. The power is great, especially where persons of subnormal intelligence are concerned. Accounts which they read of crime impress them to a greater extent than more intelligent brothers, and the flood of crime news which flows from the modern press gives sinister inclinations to minds that would otherwise be occupied with very harmless interests."

To test the effect of "colored" crime narratives upon newspaper readers, the commission employed two men to board subway trains in various parts of New York city and select readers at random. Of 30 readers of a certain paper, 33 expressed the opinion that the accused in a specific case was guilty, 5 per cent felt the accused was not guilty, and 6 per cent expressed doubt. Of 14 readers of an old-established conservative paper, however, only 7 per cent thought the accused guilty, 35 per cent expressed a belief of innocence, and 58 per cent expressed doubt. Of 24 readers of another conservative paper, 33 per cent thought the accused guilty, 42 per cent innocent, and 25 per cent were doubtful.

These are figures to be pondered over. Public sentiment is a tremendous force, which unquestionably affects the operation of the laws. Fortunately, however, only a comparatively small proportion of the population is swayed by sensationalism. The habitual newspaper reader long ago learned to make allowance for willful exaggeration. It is impossible to fool all the people all the time.

PUBLICITY SEEKERS.

There must be good grounds for the prevailing notion that there are more publicity seekers to the square inch in the United States than anywhere else in the world. Every issue of every newspaper carries at least one story concerning an individual who has done something out of the ordinary, the feat usually having been undertaken simply because of the knowledge that it would get the performer's name before the public. Press agents put their clients through various silly paces for publicity. Great corporations are not beneath seeking free advertising. The United States is a nation of publicity seekers, but it does not stand alone.

In 339 B. C. the judges of the Athenian democracy found a philosopher named Socrates guilty of impiety and of corrupting the young and sentenced him to quaff a potion of hemlock, a fatal poison. Now comes forward a lawyer, euphonically named Mr. Paradoxopolis, who has undertaken to act as the philosopher's attorney. He declares that the sentence was a miscarriage of justice, and that the honor of Greece requires a revision of the judgment and a judicial declaration of Socrates' innocence.

Granting that the self-appointed attorney is sincere in his prayer to the court, it is not easy to see what will have been accomplished should the case be retried. At this late date, the honor of Greece is not affected one way or the other by the fact that Socrates was condemned to death some 2,300 years ago, either justly or unjustly. Lawyer Paradoxopolis, however, has got his name in the papers and probably this is all that he wanted.

JUST AN ACCIDENT.

Henry Ford appears to be recovering normally from the injuries he received when his car ran off an embankment. It is now stated that Mr. Ford does not believe, and never has stated, that an attempt was made upon his life. He is convinced that the near-collision resulting in the accident was unintentional.

It is not reasonable to assume that two men bent upon assassinating Henry Ford would have adopted the method of driving against his car and forcing him off the road. Gunmen would have laid in wait and shot him down, without warning and without the possibility of escape. An automobile collision, brought about purposely, is as apt to destroy the perpetrators as it is to kill the intended victim.

Henry Ford occupies so much space in the public eye that an accident to him attracts universal attention, and affords an opportunity for sensationalists to magnify the incident and inject into it all sorts of mystery and crime. If this accident had occurred to any other person it would have been taken for granted that he had been somewhat inept at the wheel, and in the semidarkness had veered too far to one side in making room for the car behind. It is not a reflection upon Henry Ford's unique genius to suggest that possibly he has no more skill than any other mortal in driving a light car. He is doing nicely, and it is universally hoped that he will soon be up and active, none the worse for his accident.

WHALE GLANDS.

Scientists are the greatest guessers of the universe. Some of them are constantly advancing theories that are the outcome of dreams or speculations. Those whose bent is in the direction of anatomical research startle the world with occasional announcements of "discoveries" as to causes and cures for the diseases which afflict mankind, but diseases still exist.

Then there are those gentlemen with microscopic eyes who since the days of Aristotle, have been searching the human frame in the hope of discovering the functions of every organ, from the spleen, or the vermiform appendix, to the most minute gland. One of these gimlet-eyed scientists (name concealed by the University of California for the time being), is quite positive that the pituitary gland holds the secret of life. It is not, however, the pituitary of "homo sapiens" to which this secret is confined, but to that which is hidden on the superior surface of the sphenoid bone in the cranium of a whale. With this idea firmly imbedded in the minds of the professors of the California university, that institution has "grub staked" a whaling expedition off the coast of Mexico to collect the necessary glands for experimentation.

The Associated Press announces that the whaler Lansing is now operating off the San Clemente Islands "making two kills a day." But as only the glands are required, no attempt is made to utilize the bone or blubber of the big mammals. As soon as their skulls are cracked open and the pituitaries removed the carcasses are cast adrift, and the harpooner takes a nap until he hears the lookout shout "Har she blows!" when he again poises his harpoon and with that unerring aim for which the craft is famous he drives his shaft into the leviathan of the deep.

The university requires a whole barrelful of pituitary whale glands, and two whales a day several weeks may be required to satisfy the requirement. It is probable, on the other hand, that at least two centuries will be needed as well as the combined genius of the entire faculty of several universities to convert a graven image, or even "a rag and a bone and a hank of hair" into a sensate being. Why waste all those tons of whale meat, whale blubber and whalebone, just to fill a barrel with pituitary glands? Why not bring in all the product, and with the profits finance the professors?

The selection of Col. William B. Ladd to be engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia will be generally commended. He has been long and varied service, both at home and in the Philippines and Panama, and has had charge of important affairs. The branches of District government to come under his jurisdiction will be in competent hands. Col. Ladd's broad experience will be most useful to the board in matters of general administration.

This theory, of course, requires a protective tariff, and that it is working is proven by a comparison of conditions today in America and Europe.

Zoning for Keeps.

Houston Post-Dispatch: Following the example of the United States in setting aside the District of Columbia, the Australian parliament carved out of the state of New South Wales a federal district 1,000 miles square which is to be governed by a commission. There is one important difference between the District of Columbia and the district of Canberra. In the latter there can be no freeholding of property. The commission leases land to private individuals, but does not sell it. In this way it is enabled to keep its hand on the development of the property.

And this is where the city planner receives his boon. He is able to say that this part of the city shall be an industrial district, and it is an industrial district; he says that another section shall be a fine residence district, and it is that way. Another area he designates as a district for moderate-priced homes. And so on. City planners throughout the world will watch the experiment.

The malady reappeared in 1920 and again in 1924, when he was a presidential aspirant, and each time only a partial cure was effected. Only recently it was feared that another attack might occur in 1928, simultaneously with a

Self-Pity

By ROBERT QUILLEN

SELF-PITY is the pet vice of weaklings. It must be a vice, for its results are vicious. When a man becomes addicted to it, he loses what little strength of character he once possessed and never thereafter climbs higher.

Other vices must be learned, but a taste for self-pity seems to be in-born. The punished child seeks seclusion and therein revels in self-pity until the tear glands are squeezed entirely dry.

Old folks who sit in corners and talk mournfully of being in the way do not believe a word of what they are saying. They have reached an age when there is little they can enjoy, and they cultivate self-pity because a sense of martyrdom affords them pleasure.

In the child, self-pity is mildly amusing; but in the adult who has not yet reached senility it is despicable, and it plays havoc with matrimony. How many men go through the day feeling sorry for themselves because a button was missing from an undershirt?

They revel in a gentle melancholy. They assure themselves again and again that they are not appreciated. Slaving day after day for a woman who doesn't even care enough about them to keep the buttons sewed on! Poor dears!

Women enjoy it, too—that is, women who have a yellow streak. They feel sorry for themselves because their husbands don't make more money or because other women have finer clothes or more expensive furniture. And for hours at a time they sit and soak their souls in martyrdom—when, as a matter of fact, they are probably getting considerably more than they deserve.

When two of these yellow-striped weaklings chance to marry, the resulting competition in martyrdom almost inevitably leads to the divorce court.

How unfortunate that the judge isn't permitted to spank them, wipe their weepy noses, and send them back to torture one another with their common idleness!

The best of men are at times tempted to pity themselves. Don't do it, Old Timer. It melts the backbone.

One reason why the old-time matron was thinner was because a canary wasn't her only responsibility.

But would you consider it your duty to whip your child if he could lick you in a fair fight?

resurrection of the lamented third party. But we have his own word that the germ has been eradicated, that the period of convalescence is over and that he is able once more to take a normal interest in his activities as senator. This will cause much rejoicing in certain Republican councils, where his political temperature has long been a matter of concern.

Bungled Diplomacy. One could imagine why there should be forged documents designed to stir up the United States against Mexico. Certain American interests there are menaced and it is conceivable that some persons should be eager to goad this country into strong action against Mexico. But why should these forged germs be circulated in Mexico? Are there persons who wish to excite Mexico against the United States? Mexico has the oil lands and it also has the wells and refineries and the entire plants. It can't get any more and it might lose something. Wherefore, it doesn't seem good sense to try to irritate the Mexican government or the Mexican people into increased bitterness against the Gringos.

The Tailored Suit is the Fashion for Youth

Now Being Shown in Misses' Suit Section, Third Floor

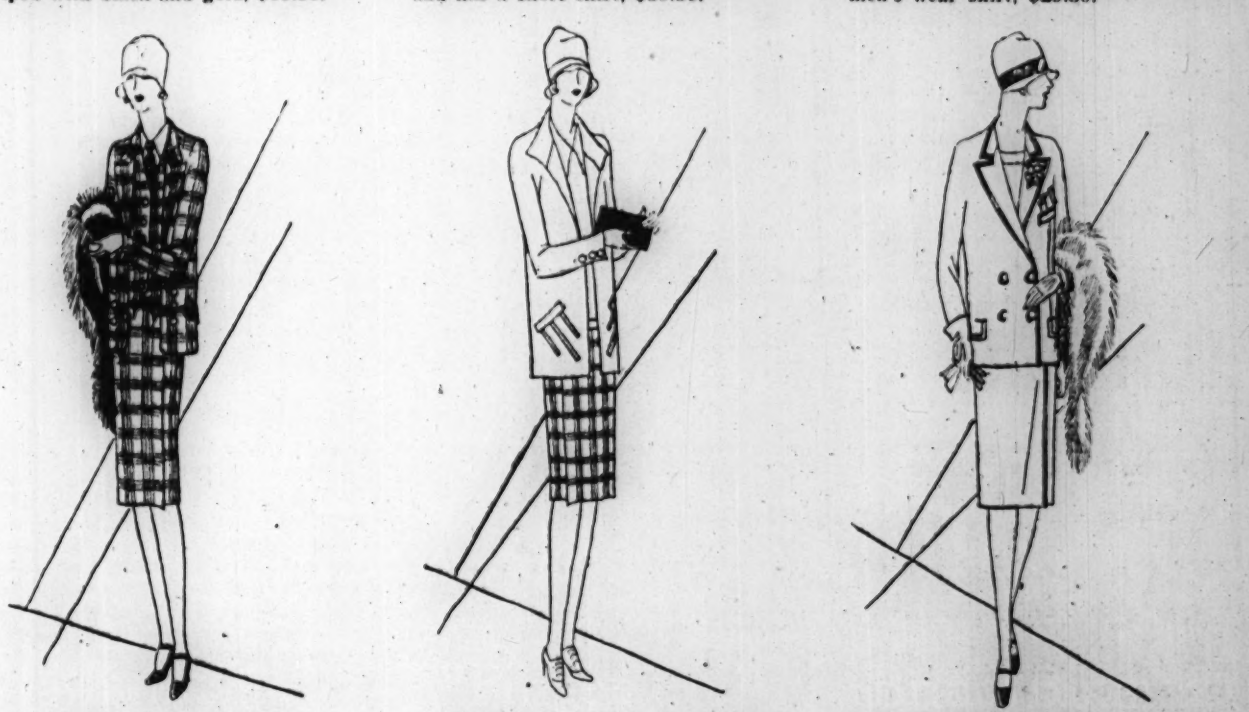

The Sweater Suit The Mannish Striped Suit The Composé Suit

Nothing is smarter this Spring than the sweater suit—a man-tailored style, with a knit wool sweater beneath its short coat. It may be of tweed, kasha or fine tulle, but it must have a contrasting sweater.
Sketched—Black (will belted suit, with a white wool sweater, horizontally striped with black and gold, $69.50.

"Trousers" fabrics, men's wear and tweeds fashion these youthful suits for town and country wear. The double-breasted coats—the wrap-around skirts—and the stripes distinguish these as 1927 versions.
Sketched—Tan "Trousers" fabric suit, with gray-blue stripes, is short coated and has a short skirt, $39.50.

An innovation in tailored suits is the Composé suit with coat of black kasha and the skirt of gray men's wear. This proves a most wearable type of suit, particularly in town.
Sketched—Black kasha knit double-breasted coat, with wrap-around gray men's wear skirt, $29.50.

Mannish Vest Suit "Finger-tip" Coat Suit Braid-Bound Navy Blue Suit

The three-piece suit consisting of a wrap-around skirt, short-length coat and strictly man-like vest, is the latest innovation in the tailored suit vogue. The oblique pocket is a new note this Spring.
Sketched—Tan men's wear fabric fashion this three-piece vest suit in strictly mannish style, $69.50.

Equally as smart as the short-coated suit is the "finger-tip" length coat suit. In this model the compose mode is attractively achieved with a jacket of one color and the skirt of a matching plaid.
Sketched—Tan men's wear "finger-tip" coat, with a tan plaid skirt makes a distinguished tailored suit for Spring, $62.50.

They lead the mode with the younger set—these navy blue twill suits, smartly braid bound—and in single and double breasted styles. Then, too, they are exceptionally low priced.
Sketched—Navy blue twill suit with a short, double-breasted coat and short, wrap-around skirt, $35.

Relieving Women's Hygiene

Of its worries—Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

BECAUSE old hygienic ways are on the wane, women active in business and society have few hygienic worries these days. Hazardous old ways are being supplanted by a new way called Kotex.

✓ You discard Kotex just like a sheet of tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, one now wears sheerest frocks and gowns without the slightest fear of embarrassment.

Also deodorizes thoroughly, thus ending all danger of offending.

Doctors and nurses widely urge Kotex. Women everywhere employ it.

You can obtain it at any store simply by saying "KOTEX." Box of 12 costs only a few cents. Be sure you get the genuine, for only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

SPRING is the time to prepare your garden, to sow the seed, to anticipate the harvest.

Don't leave your garden—however small it may be—lie fallow. Every inch is worth cultivating, and can be made to yield good results. Fruits and vegetables, flowers and shrubs can be made to grow in the most neglected soil.

We have all the tools you need, you'll find them displayed in our home-furnishing section—Main floor, G Street entrance—or phone us for prices or orders.

Religion and Business

It has sometimes been said that there should be more religion in business and more business in religion.

Business men are coming to see more clearly than ever that the invisible underlies the visible and that back of the material prosperity of the world is the spiritual growth of the people of the world.

What spirit and moisture and sunlight are to the tall trees of the woodland, religion is to the economic life of mankind. It can hardly be otherwise when religion inspires and creates those rugged virtues—honesty, industry, justice, truth and self-sacrifice, without which the tall structure of world business would crumble and perish.

The future of our city is bright with promise of a greater Washington; in the beauty of her streets, buildings and parks; in the efficiency and adequacy of her schools, and in the leadership and purpose of her churches.

To this end the joint forces of religion and business in Washington are working in hearty accord, in mutual recognition of the fact that as regards religion and business one is the inspiration of the other and the other is the success of inspiration.

The churches of Washington and vicinity are happy only when they succeed in generating in the hearts of men those creative sources of strength and faith that inspire them to meet their obligations with a steady hand, a clear mind and a glad heart, in the fear of God and with love to Christ and their fellow men.

A WASHINGTON BUSINESS MAN.

The Housekeeper

WE have escaped April Fool Day by a mere shadow, and I am wondering now as I write this what my temptations would have been had that uncertain day happened to be a day for the column. I remember distinctly that on Christmas day I completely forgot that we are a household affair and delved into the business of a Christmas story, and have a suspicion that April 1 would have been a trial to me. However, it escaped by the breadth of a hair.

On Thursday we had a few recipes for egg dishes, and I wish in addition to the menu today to give one or two more that have come to my attention since Thursday. We should also be making some preparation to put eggs away against next winter's shortage, and this is done with water glass very easily and effectively. We are apt to forget, I fear, that although this is a time of plenty, there is yet to come a time of want when eggs soar to a point bordering on insanity and seem to smile when their owner claims them to be worth 75 cents for a mere 12 if they are to change hands.

A number of ladies have sent in blanks for appointments, such a number in fact that we are far from through the list, although we have been seeing people very constantly and shall continue to do so for some time. When this list of coupons has been brought up to date we shall again run the appointment blank with the column, but until then it will be impossible for us to do so for there are, as a certain number of hours in the day and the Housekeeper has but two pairs of hands with which to care for the volume of work that comes to this studio.

I have been striving to clear the desk that we may take up the work of another contest, and plan that that shall come about next Tuesday. This is, we all recall, to be a contest of fish dishes and the rules of the contest, so very like the other sets of rules that have appeared with contests, will appear with each column for the two-week period of the contest. The prizes will remain as before, first prize $5.00—second prize, $3.00—and three third prizes of $1.00 each.

Now for the business of the day.
MENU (SUNDAY)
Clear Consomme
Crackers
Pickles
Celery
Baked Ham
Molded Spinach
Onions with Butter Sauce
Cucumber and Lettuce
Salad with French Dressing
Prune Whip
Cafe Noir.

We shall not require the reprinting of the baked ham for we have had it a great many times. May I suggest that a whole ham be purchased rather than a half, for there are many uses to which the remains may be put, and with warm weather on the way we certainly can serve cold, sliced home-cooked ham to advantage. We shall, the first of the week, give numerous ways of fixing over the remnants that are always present when a hot ham has been cut and which should be used before the remainder of the firm part of the ham is sliced for use.

Molded Spinach.
Wash thoroughly 1 peck of spinach and cook in the water that clings to the spinach after it is washed for 20 minutes, adding salt to the saucepan. Remove the spinach and chop it until it is very fine. Add a third of a cup of butter, which has been melted and a scant teaspoon of salt. Reheat the whole. Force into a buttered mold and pour over it a cream sauce. Surround the whole with small cooked carrots and sliced hard-boiled eggs for garnishing. With a large dinner it is usual not to make use of the egg garnish, while with a supper it is an addition.

Prune Whip.
Wash and pick over one pound of prunes and let soak for two hours.

Cook in same water until soft, when water will have been nearly consumed. Remove the stones and cut the prunes in very small pieces and then sprinkle with three-fourths of a cup of sugar. Beat the whites of four eggs until stiff and add prunes slowly. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake slowly 30 minutes or until it is surely done, and then chill and serve with a sauce (following) or cream.

Sauce.
Beat the yolks of four eggs until thick and lemon-colored, and add three-fourths of a cup of confectioners' sugar and a pinch of salt. Add a third of a cup of cream or top milk. Flavor with lemon or vanilla flavoring and chill. Serve with prune whip. If a thinner sauce is desired more milk or cream may be added.

This will, I think, care for the menu for tomorrow's dinner. Let us go on now with the recipes for egg dishes.

Deviled Eggs (by request).
Split in half lengthwise. Remove the yolks from enough hard-boiled eggs to supply the needs of the family, season with salt and pepper. To every six eggs yolks add two tablespoons mayonnaise, a half teaspoon each salt and Worcestershire sauce and lemon juice. Mash the yolks and mix with the other ingredients. The yolks must be worked to a smooth paste, as lumpy egg is most unattractive. Add a few drops of onion juice to the yolk mixture and stuff it back into the little boats formed by the whites of the eggs. Garnish with a sprinkling of paprika.

Poached Eggs With Asparagus.
1 can asparagus tips.
Eggs.
1 cup cream.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 tablespoon flour.
Salt.
Paprika.
Pepper.
Cook together butter and flour. Add one cup of thin cream. When hot, add asparagus tips cut in pieces and season with salt and pepper. When hot drop in one egg for each person to be served, being careful not to break the yolk of the egg. Cook until poached to suit the taste, either hard or soft, and do not stir during the process. Sprinkle paprika over the top for a garnish and serve from the dish in which the ingredients are cooked. Fresh asparagus may, indeed, be used at this season of the year for this dish, and suffice it to say that at another season the price of both eggs and asparagus will not tempt the homemaker operating on a budget to indulge in this delicacy often. This is a delicious supper dish and may be supplied to children. They will be more than likely to enjoy it.

Two Carloads of Soda Crackers!

Sounds like a "powerful lot" of soda crackers, and it surely is—ordinarily—but in this case we believe it is little enough, once we prevail on our friends to try a package.

NATIONAL BISCUIT CO.

Crusader (Brand) Biscuits (Old-time Soda Cracker flavor)

This is a new product by the National Biscuit Co. Our idea of a description of the product is as above.

Old-time soda cracker flavor, bringing back memory of the days when you really found something between your teeth when eating crackers. The appetite-appealing, "crunchy" flavor of this Crusader Biscuit will bring smiles of delight from the children, and the grown folks will welcome the return of a "soda cracker" flavor that's been missing for twenty-five years.

As a special introductory offer we are naming a very special price for this week and the beginning of next, if stocks last.

Crusader Biscuits are packed in a large carton containing one pound. Be sure and get at least one package.

Nats' Rookies Gain Lease With Club

Injuries Force Harris to Retain Recruits Temporarily.

Coveleskie to Pitch in Opener; Reeves Out-sprints Goslin.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

TAMPA, Fla., April 1.—No matter what happens in this world, some one seems to benefit. When one fellow loses, another gains, and so it is in the case of Pitches Joe Carroll, Dick Coffman and Catcher "Lim" Berger, of the Nationals. These three were due to be sent to the minors before the Harbinger broke camp here, but because of the number of maimed and sick, the Nat leader is going to hold on to them for a while.

With Walter Johnson and Alvin Crowder likely to be out of commission for a few weeks more, their absence is bound to be felt and as the Washington pilot does not have to do any more reducing until June 15, he is trying to protect himself by hanging on to all available material.

With two and sometimes three pitchers needed for the games scheduled and one or two of those here not quite up to standard, there is plenty of work for the boxmen, as from four to six are needed each day to pitch to the batters in practice.

There is also plenty of work for Berger, as catchers are needed to work with the fingers when they are warming up, and should one of the other receivers meet with an accident, John might come in might handy.

Just where these players ultimately will be sent is not known, but the chances are that Birmingham will get them, as the Nats have a working agreement with this club. Harris, it is understood, is not particularly anxious to send Dick Coffman to the Berons.

Bucky is rather sweet on this youngster's chances of making good next year and would prefer sending him to some other league than the Southern, as Dick is but 20 years of age, has not stopped growing and likely would develop faster and better if he could dodge the Dixie heat for a season.

The Nat caravan has started on its track northward, Schacht and Speaker forming the vanguard. Al bought himself an auto last night while Tris already had one, and this pair left this afternoon by motor to Jacksonville. The machines will be shipped from there, and the two will rejoin the Nats as they pass through early Sunday morning. The balance of the team leaves here tomorrow night.

President Clark Griffith and the ladies of the party entrain for Washington tomorrow morning. In this latter group will be Mrs. Marn.

Paulino Clumsier But Better Than Heeney in Garden Bout

Neither Displays Swan-Like Grace in 10 Rounds, Says Pegler—Vote Is 2 to 1. Basque Has Left Hook.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW YORK, April 1.—Paulino Uzcudun, the noted Spanish shrub exterminator, won his second fight in the United States this evening when two out of three votes gave him the decision over Tom Heeney, a big, rough wayfarer from New Zealand, after ten swift and sweaty rounds.

The battle was much the best thus far presented in the protracted sifting tournament for a heavyweight that Mr. Tex Rickard has been conducting, excepting the two massacres which featured old iron Mike McTigue, who is not a heavyweights and never really belonged in the tournament anyway.

Paulino's margin was so scant that Charlie Mathison, one of the judges, voted for Heeney to win and Mr. John Mortimer, Heeney's manager, came down to the press row afterward sobbing that fair play had just been dealt a foul and painful, if not a fatal kick, in the scutcheon by the decision of the other two officials. They were Jack Donovan, the referee and Joe Brennan, the other judge.

Some of the customers heeled slightly, too, but on the whole the verdict did not seem to be an outrage, for Paulino certainly did pummel Mr. Heeney right heartily in the last five or six rounds and held one of his eyes, and, moreover, dealt him one left hook that brought the floor heaving up to hit Mr. Heeney a resounding smack in the trousers.

Neither of the boys displayed any swanlike grace in the course of their rowdy half-hour in the concentrated glare of the public orb, and it must be admitted that Paulino was slightly clumsier than Mr. Heeney. But in the matter of belligerency and general cankerousness, both lads shamed such temperamental youths as Jack Delaney and Jimmy Maloney.

In fact, a suspicion arises that if Paulino should chafe Mr. Maloney's chin with the same left hook that caught Heeney on the neck in the first round and set him down, Maloney would sit down, too.

Paulino started out very fast but in the second round Heeney, who is not a bad boxer for a heavyweights, discovered a way of rolling inside his left hook and punching with his right as he closed in.

He gave this smash against Paulino's face with such vigor and precision that before the second round was over Paulino himself found his feet tangling and almost went down. They fought evenly to the end, both willing and both more interested in punching than clinching and Heeney had a slight edge when the bout was half over.

Paulino's left hook is about the best individual swat now to be seen in the heavyweight class and Heeney, having tasted it and found it very bitter, had to gait himself at a varying speed in order to keep one move ahead of it.

Cruickshank Takes Golf Tourney

Beats Hagen 2 Strokes to Annex North and South Honors.

Emmett French Third, Farrell Fourth at Pinehurst.

By A. P. J.

CLIMAXING A SUCCESSFUL winter season on Southern golf courses, Bobby Cruickshank, diminutive professional from Progress club, New York, today added the 1927 United North and South open golf championship to his laurels.

The defending champion completed the 72-hole grind in 285, 2 strokes ahead of Walter Hagen, of Pasadena, Fla., the professional champion, who was 1 stroke in the lead at the end of the morning round.

Emmett French, the Southern Pines and Youngtown (Ohio) professional, one of the formidable contenders, finished in 292, tied with Johnny Farrell, of New York, and Leo Diegel, of White Plains, N. Y. John Golden, Paterson, N. J., who won the Southern open, turned in a 293.

In his Garrison finish, Cruickshank shot a 68, while Hagen was taking a 72 for the last 18 holes. Bobby, shooting them right from every angle, went out in 35 and in 34, while Hagen was out in 35 and in 37. Victory gave Cruickshank $500 as first prize in the $2,000 put up for the ten low men.

Bobby held Hagen even on strokes the first nine this afternoon and gained a stroke at the twelfth, when he sank a par four while Walter was getting a five, another at the fourteenth, where he scored four to Hagen's five, and a third on the sixteenth, when he shot a bogey four to Hagen's par five.

Cruickshank parred in three at the fifteenth by driving the green, and did the same on the seventeenth, it looked bad the hole when his second trickled into a bad lie in a trap, but he got out and sank a 5-foot putt for a par four.

Hagen was short with his second at the fourteenth and took five, but got a par three at the fifteenth. His second rolled into a trap at the sixteenth and

Phillies to Make Rivals Hustle, Says McInnis

P.).—Back home with his sun-browned Phillies after a month's training in Florida, Manager Stuffy McInnis spoke optimistically today of his team's chances in the National league pennant race. He was confident they would rise far from the cellar position, so familiar to them at the end of the season.

"We're going to make them all hustle," he said. "We have in view a berth at the top of the second division, but it would not surprise me to see the club go even higher with any sort of break."

FINISH OF $5,000 INAUGURAL HANDICAP

JACKSON, ILL., IS LOST TO GIANTS

Is Operated Upon for Appendicitis; Club Suffers Blow.

NEW YORK, April 1 (By A. P.).—Travis Jackson, shortstop for the New York Giants, was operated upon in a hospital here for appendicitis tonight. Jackson was stricken while on a train en route from Chattanooga to Jackson, Tenn., last night.

New York, April 1 (By A. P.).—Betting odds on the National league pennant race underwent a decided change tonight.

With Travis Jackson, star shortstop of the New York Giants, operated upon for appendicitis at Memphis, Tenn., John McGraw's chance of winning a league flag to celebrate his twenty-fifth season at the helm of the club slumped badly in the opinion of Manhattan dopsters.

The young infielder, main cog in the Giant defense along with Rogers Hornsby, has been an outstanding star since joining a regular berth with the club in 1924. Last season he eluded the ball at a .327 clip and fielded brilliantly to gain recognition as one of the ranking shortstops of the game.

Jackman will be unable to play before midseason at the earliest. Andy Cohen and Eddie Farrell, substitute infielders probably will be thrown into the breach although neither has shown outstanding ability at the shortfield position.

Jackman, a graduate of Ouachita Baptist college, Arkadelphia, Ark., came up to the Giants from Little Rock in 1922 when only 19 years old. He stuck from the start, playing two years in a utility role before his all-round ability gained him a regular spot when Dave Bancroft shifted to the Boston Braves in 1924 to take over the reins as player-manager.

In his first season as a regular, Jackson hit for .302 and fielded at a high clip. He was highly instrumental that year in leading the team to the National league championship although he hit for but .074 in the world series. The youngsters who dropped out of 1925 in 1925 but regained his potency last season. Jackson was born in Waldo, Ark., November 2, 1903.

Dr. Eugene J. Johnson, who performed the operation at the Methodist hospital, indicated that Jackson had "stood" the operation well, and his reaction to the ordeal had been satisfactory.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, had hoped Johnson to meet the train from Jackson last night. A diagnostician was called into consultation and the operation was decided upon tonight.

Dr. Johnson declared tonight that due to splendid physical condition of Jackson, he believed would be able to play ball again by May 15.

Hagen and Sarazen Play at Greenbrier

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., April 1.—Two courses of the Greenbrier Golf club will be used on Sunday for the 36-hole match between Walter Hagen, American professional champion, and Gene Sarazen, former holder of that title.

The morning round will be played over No. 3 course, which measures 6,377 yards and has a par of 70. The afternoon play will be on No. 1 course, which is 6,808 yards long and has a par of 71.

Hagen and Sarazen have met only once in almost four years. That was in Florida in 1923, when Hagen won, it being the first time he ever defeated Sarazen in a match in America. In 1922 and 1923 they played three matches, Gene winning all of them.

The Greenbrier courses are in excellent condition for the big match. It will be the first time in several years that Hagen or Sarazen has appeared in this section, and golf enthusiasts for miles around are expected to join the gallery.

Feature Race Is Decided At Wire

Contemplate Beaten Out by Head in Stretch Run.

Workman Injured But Rides Battle Shot to Victory.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH, Sports Editor The Post.

C. C. SMITHSON, sent his 4-year-old colt Aucilla to the post in the $5,000 Inaugural handicap at Bowie yesterday and 12,000 racegoers saw the Washington turfman rewarded with victory by the length of Aucilla's mud-spattered head. Contemplate, the Flamingo Farm entry, was second and Cudgeler, of the Bellwell stable, third.

A raw day, with rain falling intermittently, failed to dampen the interest in the opening of the Eastern racing season at the Prince George County track and Washington and Baltimore "cured" its thousands into the inclosure.

The large field nominated for the Inaugural was riddled by scratches as trainers refused to saddle their charges in the muddy going of the track and only six accented the issue. But it was a stirring battle, that decided the winner. Aucilla and Contemplate had outdistanced the remainder of the field by the time the home stretch was reached and raced as a team down to the finish, where Jockey Petrecca's last hard-urged brought Aucilla's head to the fore.

Petrecca went to the whip 100 yards out to bring Aucilla home a winner. The Washington-owned colt, by Broomstick-Layona, resplended courageously under the whipping and dropped his head in front of Contemplate in the final yards. The crowd was not certain of the winner until the judges made the decision.

Contemplate literally beat the barrier at the start of the race out of the chute and established a three-length lead. Aucilla and Lassa were close in attendance in the run down the back stretch with Cudgeler shuffled back among the second flight. Stirrup Cup, the favorite, was off to a slow start and could never improve his position.

Church, on Contemplate, let his mount gallop easily as Aucilla disposed of Lassa and moved up on the leader, where Jockey Petrecca's last hard-urged brought Aucilla's head to the fore.

"I sincerely hope we can make President Breardon and Hornsby realize that a compromise is necessary for the good of baseball," he said. "Baseball men with whom I

TIP TOPS FAUCET COLLEGER AT BOWIE TODAY

Expert Picks Reprove in First

Felix Named to Beat Gaffney in Day's Feature.

Kivi Is Given First Choice on Card at New Orleans.

By BERT E. COLLIER.

TIP TOP. Listen, bo, how do you stand on the season? If you are a loser, here is the sack to take the string off the old kate and proceed to collect. Personally, I know this gem from the Greenlee stable has been given a special reprieve for this spot. Also, if he is good enough for me to bet my "duces," it surely is good enough for you.

Fourth race over at Bowie is the spot selected by Trainer Phillips to give the boys a treat. VOLANTE will rule the choice, with FORBES coming in for a world of support. However, the bet goes as it lays—TIP TOP.

FELIX, which did things for us down at New Orleans, and who is the best runner in the country, is another to be slipped me as XXX special. Unless you're solid ivory—from the shoulders up—you will have the two mega right smack on the old beaver. GAFFNEY and LANCASTER for the boys' left.

And now here comes the devil—none other than LONGPOINT and all prettied up for the boys today. Personally I don't believe the race will even be close. DARKTOWN has the tip on STRUT MISS LIZZIE and you have the info for what it is worth.

Down at New Orleans, where the curtain will be dropped—with the running of the seventh race today, they have arranged a very fair balanced card. In the day's opener, I want to slip you something on which I have the low down—it is none other than KIVI.

My understanding he will have the two foo powder dusted on his tongue today.

BABBLING, EIGHT SIXTY and DELPHI follow closely bunched. BILLY YITZ with barnacles all over his hide but which has drawn the post position, or rather I should say the "tail" is taken to come home on the chin-snap.

DOLLY BOY and THE VITNER are sure to command a heavy play. This makes—no never mind—it will hold our price.

BURNT, in his present form is given the call, with BLUE TORCH, which was heavily supported overnight the dangerous one.

More anon.
